Customer Reviews

Poverty can produce many disadvantages for a student struggling to reach his or her full potential in school. Eric Jensen has provided a brilliant road map and a set of practical tools for any educator who truly desires to help the underprivileged student rise above his or her circumstances. This is a must-read for educators who serve students of poverty. --Anthony Muhammad, Author and Educational Consultant

Eric Jensen speaks from his perspective as a classroom teacher and does an excellent job providing many examples in implementing the strategies. There is an opportunity for building leaders to utilize this material to provide professional development on changing classroom culture and, in effect, changing school culture. --Jacque Wyant, Principal, Marshalltown High School, Iowa

Eric Jensen, PhD, is a former teacher from San Diego, California. Since the early 1990s, he has synthesized brain research and developed practical applications for educators. Jensen is a member of the invitation-only Society for Neuroscience and the President's Club at Salk Institute of Biological Studies. He cofounded SuperCamp, the first and largest brain-compatible academic enrichment program, held in sixteen countries with over sixty-five thousand graduates. Jensen has authored over twenty-eight books including Teaching With Poverty in Mind, Tools for Engagement, Engaging Students With Poverty in Mind, Turnaround Tools for the Teenage Brain, Bringing the Common Core to Life in K-8 Classrooms, and Different Brains, Different Learners.

I have come to expect well written, practical and research based work from Eric Jensen. This is book is full of ideas that can be easily implemented in any classroom.

What an important topic. Badly needed information.

Wonderful read. Everyone working with kids should have this book.

Good resource with some helpful strategies

Easy read and makes a lot of sense! Combines research from Hattie, Dweck, and Covey.

Good info.

Great text book and a must read for all teachers.

The book offers insight on how I can more effectively teach all of my students to be successful.
