It's A Mall World After All

Synopsis

"A fun romp of a read that's sure to please."--Booklist
"Witty and hilarious." --TeensReadToo.com
If they gave out diplomas for what you learn at the mall, Charlotte could graduate with honors. Ever since she got a job as a perfume spritzer, she's become an expert on all things shopping related. And she's getting really good at spying on her classmates who hang out there. What she hasn't mastered is the art of convincing her best friend Brianna to dump her boyfriend Bryant. After Charlotte caught him flirting with a mysterious, blond-haired stick figure, she knows he's up to no good. Worse still, now Brianna is taking his side. Charlotte must prove who is right, once and for all, and that means catching Bryant in the act. This is where her mall roaming skills will come in handy. Perfume anyone?

Guys, you know I don't typically read contemporary books because I just find them too everyday-life for me. I need something supernatural in my life (and not just the TV show ;) which

I love)! So it's strange that I would start off 2017 with this book, right? But I just felt like reading this! I love Janette's other paranormal books (including those under her pen name, C.J. Hill) so I thought I might give this a try and oh my god I am so glad I did because I loved it! It was so much fun! Will I start reading more contemporary books? Hey, don't push me lol ;) I will probably read all of Janette's other contemporary books though. That's a start, right? She is just amazing and I highly recommend this book! So, Charlotte works at a perfume counter at the mall when she sees her best friend's boyfriend out in the mall with another girl... flirting with her! Charlotte of course tells Briana what she saw, but does she believe Charlotte? Not after Bryant "explained" himself to Briana. Even Bryant's best friend Colton, who is in Charlotte's study group, is telling her that she didn't see what she thinks she saw. But Charlotte is having none of that. She saw what she saw and is determined to find out the truth. But with Colton (a guy she may or may not be falling for?) trying to stop her and Briana (her best freaking friend) thinking she wants to break them up for no other reason than that Charlotte doesn't like Bryant, it will be hard for Charlotte. In the end, Charlotte will have to choose between justice and friendship. It's A Mall World After All was really freaking good! It was very fun and humorous, and Janette always writes the most sweetest romances ever swoon To this day I have not read one of her books that I have not liked (and I've read like 6, I think). I loved the interactions between Colton and Charlotte and just all the embarrassing (but humorous) situations Charlotte got herself into, and all because of her fierce loyalty. I just found myself really relating to Charlotte! For example: "Don't talk to [People at the Mall] though, as this just encourages them to talk back to you. Talking leads to trouble". --Charlotte "I hardly ever wear high heels. It's not like I need the extra height, and wearing heels is about as comfortable as strapping two shovel onto your feet." --Charlotte It was just a perfect book all around! I highly recommend it and any of Janette's other books!

What an Absolutely Hilarious book!!! SO funny and so awesomely written! After the first paragraph I was laughing and reading it to my family, who laughed along with me. My only complaint-it ended WAY too soon! I needed more. I felt the ending was abrupt. You can guess how it goes after the end of the book but Still! Needs more! Loved the characters-did question a few people's sanity every once in a while but totally brilliant and I ADORE the main characters personality, spirit, and spunk! What a book!

I just read a book called It's a Mall World After All and OMG goodness, what a fun story! I couldn't believe how much the MALL, of all places, relates to everyday life. It makes perfect sense NOW! The main characters were great. I laughed out loud in many places. And, of course, I was completely mortified in the parts where I should be mortified because I could totally relate to making a fool of myself on a regular basis. Great read for a YA or anyone who just wants a fun read. 5 Stars. Clean.

Romance, YA, clean This is probably the funniest thing I have read this year. Truly a gem of a read, although if you don't like YA, you might not enjoy it. JR has written a clever, fast paced novel that truly is a fun social commentary. Charlotte and Colton both have some introspection to do and experience. Charlotte's loyalty, her giving heart, and her bias for not dating any of the guys who mercilessly teased her in Junior High made for a witty, clever, and light-hearted read that had some foundation to it. Charlotte and Colton were a fun couple to read their 'fall'. Their 'dance' around each other was fun to read, and I laughed out loud at some of the 'incidences'. Glad she found one of the good guys! Her family, friends, the social nuances, were cleverly told, and a roller-coaster ride of a read. Hopefully Brianna will find a HEA in the future!! rarely give 5's, save mostly for classics, but this was too laugh out loud funny, and of course the romance was a cute fall! I have read other things by J.R., and this is my absolute favorite of anything she has written.

I think this is why I went to a magnet school, but have to say that the drama everywhere else is a totally entertaining read....Really: Who isn't a little clumsy when frustrated, violent while angry and, just a smidge, pyro in the face of competition? And, if you aren't, able to enjoy a read about someone who lives all your worst nightmare in living color.

I found this book to be witty and so true to life. I like that it did not have cussing in it. I believe that it is relatable to middle school girls more than actual senior age girls.

Charlotte is a bright, sarcastic klutz with a big heart and no money. You can't help but root for her and be glad she gets the boy. A good clean high school romance. Rallison always does a good job.

Funny dialogue that emotions that everyone can relate to. POV from heroine, and might've liked other character's POV, but the reader can pick up enough to enjoy through dialog.
